E-sources and catalogues

Factographical database? E-books? E-articles? You are in the right place - these e-sources are available for you on a faculty net or via a remote access.

How to search e-sources?

The easiest way to find electronic information resources (databases, e-journals, e-books) for science, research and education available at Charles University or only at the Faculty of Medicine HK is to use the electronic resources portal. You can filter by database name, focus, language or availability.

e Resources Portal

The availability of databases includes:

- licenced – resources for which a contract has been established with the provider. Only students and staff of the faculty may access such resources.
- trials – resources that can be used for a limited period of time
- free resources – the use is not limited by any contract
